MAYOR SPEAKS IN MUNCIE, IND.

Fills First Engagement for National Republican Campaign Bureau

CITES NEW DEAL TRENDS

Declares Free Enterprise at Stake in Talk Before Industrial Leaders.

Filling his first assignment of the campaign from the Republican national speakers bureau Mayor Frederick C Smith last night voiced sharp criticism of the new deal in a talk to 200 industrial leaders in Muncie Ind

Mayor Smith is the only Marion man of either political party giving talks outside Ohio in the campaign He recently was placed on the national speakers bureau at the same time he was given charge of organizing the Landon Knox clubs in Marion county

He declared last night that "free enterprise is at stake in this campaign and that reelection of Roosevelt undoubtedly means continuation of the destructive policies and acts the new deal has instituted"

"Tonight I'm defining the new deal—it is the destruction of the system of privately earned profits and its replacement with a system of politically unearned profits" he continued

Mayor Smith asserted the new deal not only had failed to accomplish the objectives held out for it by its sponsors but also had caused immense damage and cited statistics on prices of stocks wheat and steel production immediately prior to the institution of the new deal and after its policies had gone into effect

Not less than 3 000 000 men were put out of jobs under the NRA, Mayor Smith declared The moment the supreme court declared the NRA unconstitutional in May of 1935 business on every front began to advance employment increased immensely steel production started to rise and has continued to climb until it is now above 70 per cent Prior to the start of the NRA steel production had increased from 20 per cent to 58 per cent but it fell back to 25 per cent under the NRA

It is indicated that Roosevelt intends to follow the advice and counsel of Rexford Tugwell who is a Communist of the worst sort Roosevelt is no longer in control of the government of our country but the control has gone entirely into the hands of the Tugwells the Wallaces and other radically Socialistic and Communistic brain trust members

"There is not a man in this audience who does not know that Roosevelt and the new deal can not possibly hope to win this election without the support of a considerable majority of relief votes

"There isn't a man in this room who doesn't know that the New Dealers are buying by every possible means the votes of the relief people. Therfore the new deal can not hope to win this election except by buying it with the taxpayers money which means that if Roosevelt should be reelected America is lost"

Cat Nap Costly for Driver; Gets Fine, Sentence

"Forty winks," proved expensive for a Delaware truck driver when he pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. The Delaware driver, F. A. Fleming, 54, was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and his driving rights were revoked for six months.

The charge followed his arrest at 3 a. m. yesterday by a highway patrolman from the Marion sub-station, after his truck, parked on the Delaware road south of Marion, had been struck by an Omar Baking Co. truck. Fleming was quoted as saying [illegible] stopped for a [illegible] [illegible] sleep.

NEW MARION WPA PROGRAM NEARING GOAL

Approximately 700 Men Now on Job and New Projects To Be Started.

LIGHTENS RELIEF LOAD

Plans of Officials in Asking Voters To Approve Tax Levy Working Out.

The principal steps had been taken today in the program of WPA officials to provide work for the city's employable relief clients

WPA officials said today approximately 700 men are now assigned to various projects, including a group of new ones begun within the last 10 days and that within another week they hope to increase assignments on these jobs to the extent that every able bodied man in a relief family can be offered a self supporting job

When this condition arrives the goal in the mind of WPA and city officials when they asked for the one and one half mill levy at a special city election early last month will be reached The county's direct relief costs are expected to recede rapidly when the first payroll distribution in the new program is made and from that time on the city's troublesome WPA problem of recent months will be reduced to one of keeping enough new projects started to absorb men as they finish other projects

Assignments of the last 10 days will be increased substantially within the next week but WPA officials would not hazard a guess as to the number of additional men to be put on jobs They explained that as assignments are made men who had been believed eligible for WPA jobs are found in many instances to be back in private employment Not until the final list of assignments is made and the response to the assignments tabulated can definite figures on the city's WPA employment saturation be announced they said

Projects begun in the last 10 days, virtually all of which will have additional men assigned to them in the near future and the number of men now working on them were listed today at WPA headquarters as follows

Brick repaving of East Church street 90 men construction of storm water sewer in East Church and East Center streets 60 men tree removal and transplanting program 75 men King avenue macadamizing 35 men Lincoln park stadium project 14 men cutting back corners of city street intersections 10 men Prospect street widening 48 men sewage treatment plant filter beds 50 men

LANDON VOTE GAIN SEEN IN OHIO VISIT

Lead in State Increased, Observers Say; Predict Majority in Marion County.

Governor Landon's campaign trip through Ohio has increased his strength in Marion county and its neighbor communities according to expressions of opinion obtained today from political observers representing both parties

This appraisal of results of the Republican presidential nominee's contact with voters of Ohio coincides with reports from virtually all sections of the state the consensus being that thousands of votes which had been doubtful are now definitely in the Landon column

The general view voiced in response to inquiry here today was that although Landon apparently held a lead in Ohio from the time of his nomination the margin in his favor has been substantially increased by his recent swing through the state Here in Marion county and in nearby counties observers commenting on the situation voiced the belief that he won thousands of additional votes by his sincere frank and clear presentation of issues assuring a sound and progressive administration and by a personality which invariably wins friends

Forecasts made in today's inquiry are that Landon will carry Marion county by a substantial majority, a marked reversal of the 1932 result when Roosevelt had a plurality of 2 433 over Hoover This is in line with the Literary Digest poll which recently gave Landon a substantial lead in Marion.

Those making forecasts today also pointed to a "Poll to End Polls," which appeared in yesterday's issue of the Cleveland News.

Summarizing all of the country's polls, the News showed that the composite gives Landon 301 electoral votes, or 35 more than is necessary to elect. The summary for Ohio gives the state to Landon, the Cincinnati Enquirer poll indicating a majority of 174,804, and that of the Columbus Dispatch [illegible]

King Edward's Friend Charges Husband With Misconduct, Lone Grounds in Britain.

TWO LEAVE APARTMENT

She Moves to Place Closer to Palace and He to His Military Club.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct 15—Mrs Ernest (Wally) Simpson following the example of an American friend who first introduced the former Baltimore debutante to King Edward's intimate circle charged her husband with misconduct today in divorce proceedings

The suit—based on the charges which alone are grounds for divorce in England—has been set for hearing at the Ipswich assizes opening Oct 27

Simpson himself announced the suit after he and his dark haired wife friend and traveling companion of the British monarch moved out of their Bryanston court apartment

Moves Nearer Palace

Mrs Simpson the former Miss Wallis Warfield of Baltimore sent her belongings to a new home in Cumberland terrace, less than a mile from Buckingham palace official residence of King Edward Simpson moved into his military club where he is a member by virtue of former enrollment in the crack Coldstream Guards

"The case will not be defended," Simpson authorized The Associated Press to say for him

"Beyond that I have no statement to make

The slender beautiful royal companion in opening the divorce proceedings has followed in the footsteps of her friend the former Thelma Morgan of New York who divorced Viscount Furness in January 1933 on misconduct charges

Introduced by Lady Furness

Lady Furness opened the way for Mrs Simpson to enter King Edward's intimate circle of friends by an introduction to the British monarch

(The former Lady Furness visited in New York two years ago to attend custody hearings of her young niece Gloria Vanderbilt She is a sister of Gloria's mother, Mrs Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt)

Pending the calling of the suit Mrs Simpson it was predicted will continue to appear in the presence of King Edward accompanying the ruler to the royal country home at Sandringham where early next week the monarch will go with a small party of friends

The name of the king under no circumstances will be mentioned during the Ipswich hearing it was declared nor will any reference to

BANK DEPOSITS INCREASE AT RATE OF $3,808 A DAY

Marion Keeps in Step With Rest of Ohio in Showing Huge Gain in Last Year.

In an upward sweep of bank deposits all over Ohio during the last year Marion's three banks saw their total of deposits mount at an average of $3 808 daily during the 12 month period ended June 30 this year records here show

These figures were brought out in connection with a communication from the Ohio Bankers association in Columbus showing that deposits in Ohio's 716 banks have increased at the rate of almost one-half million dollars a day in the last year

The increases both here and in the state as a whole while adequately matched today by the banks own capital brings out the necessity for the adoption on Nov 3 of the double liability amendment to meet future increases, it was emphasized

Total deposits in Marion banks as of last June 30 the last date on which all three banks simultaneously made public their deposit account totals amounted to $6-260 000 an increase of $1 390 000 over the $4 870 000 total on the same day of the preceding year

For the state as a whole total deposits are approximately $1 200-820 493 an increase of $350 635 111 over the preceding year's figure Total resources are more than $2 439 203 000

More than 90 per cent of the accounts these totals represent are insured in full by the federal deposit insurance corporations to which the banks pay a premium from their own funds government records show

The rate of increase in deposits is seen as cause for a favorable vote on the part of the public on the double liability amendment next Nov 3 This would make it possible, bankers said for banks to increase their capital nearer in keeping with the increase in deposits This amendment seeks a banking change which would cause all banks to build up their surplus to equal their capital and thus give depositors even more capital protection

Cash reserves of Marion banks are now approaching the $2 000 000 mark one banker estimated adding that the banks are anxious to lend money having a surplus available for that purpose and that anyone presenting a legitimate application for a loan is welcomed by banks

U. S. GOLD RESERVE NOW $11,000,000,000

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Oct 15—America's huge gold reserve crossed the $11 000 000 000 mark today for the first time in history

Bullion holdings for Oct. 12—the day the new tripower gold exchange agreement went into effect—were reported by the treasury at $11,001 612 764, or about $15,000,000 above the previous day

The increase came as a surprise to many fiscal authorities who had expected the gold pact to start a movement of bullion to France and England.

SOY BEAN MILL IS ENLARGING

New Feed Plant Now in Process of Construction on N. Grand Avenue

TO BE READY SHORTLY

Livestock and Poultry Food To Be Turned Out in Carload Lots

Construction of a feed plant an addition to the factory of Old Fort Mills Inc is nearing completion on the company's property on North Grand avenue

The new structure will house machinery that will be capable of producing eight carloads of livestock and poultry feed daily The plant's products are to be marketed generally throughout the country

Soy bean oil meal or the cooked meal that remains after the bulk of oil has been extracted from soy beans for commercial use will be mixed with corn, wheat and oats in proper proportions for various kinds of feeds

To Be Ready Soon

G A Holland and P Turner officers of the company said the plant probably will be in operation two weeks from now

The new plant will increase the company's production approximately eight times In the past it has had a capacity of around one carload daily of mixed feeds

The increase will enlarge the company's demand for corn and oats from farmers and elevators particularly in the Marion area It is estimated the company will be in the market for 400 000 bushels of corn and 200 000 bushels of oats in the course of the next nine months

Equipment to be installed in the plant includes machinery capable of cleaning 1 000 bushels of corn an hour and a corn sheller also having a capacity of 1 000 bushels an hour Other machinery includes mixers automatically combining fixed proportions of different kinds of grains and automatic sacking equipment

Another railroad side track will be built into the company's site for the handling of carload lots of materials and three loading and unloading platforms for trucks will be installed

The new structure, joined to the original plant housing soy bean processing equipment, is to be 100 by 85 feet including a section 100 by 40 feet that will be three stories high and the remainder two stories high The building is of sheet iron over structural steel frame.

Grains to be mixed with the soy bean oil meal will be purchased from farmers and elevators, the company officials said. The feeds to be manufactured by the company will be offered through wholesale channels throughout the country and in Marion will be available on a wholesale basis through the Marion Feed and Seed Co.

Republican Says Farmers and Workers Will Have To Pay While President Points to His Achievements.

By The Associated Press

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN EN ROUTE TO DETROIT Oct 15 President Franklin D Roosevelt making his first bid for Michigan's 19 electoral votes told an audience at Grand Rapids today that "you have here a pretty good example of what happened in four years

In the same city Gov Alf M Landon the Republican nominee disputed last night the President's contention that real recovery was in progress in the nation

Approaching Grand Rapids from Chicago where the President received a mammoth demonstration last night the presidential train passed the Sunflower special which had carried Gov Landon on a two-day tour of Michigan

Largest Crowd on Hand

A crowd that Supt of Police Frank J O'Malley said was the largest he had ever seen in Grand Rapids greeted the President at the furniture manufacturing city Many of the spectators had witnessed the departure of Gov Landon just 19 minutes before the presidential special arrived

Supt O'Malley estimated the crowd gathered along the route of the President's parade and at Campau Square where Roosevelt spoke, at 150 000

Roosevelt told the crowd that action had to be taken to bring prosperity back

"The first thing in 1933" he said, "was to stop persons from starving and to give relief to give work After we had done that then came the next step to take measures to enable people to improve their living conditions

Example of New Deal

"You in Grand Rapids have an example of how we saw things through

He told the crowd that "I am very glad to come back to Grand Rapids and this part of the state of Michigan because so many of the good people here are descended from the same old Holland stock that I am"

"Down in Washington" he continued "I can well imagine when we are making up a budget and every department wants to have a little more money, that when the President of the United States starts to pare the budget they say his 'old Dutch blood is coming up'

"Last night in Chicago I was talking about conditions as they were four years ago and compared them with today In Grand Rapids is a pretty good example of what happened in four years

The President's Chicago address last night was delivered in the stadium

Behind a corps of 40 motorcycle patrolmen he rode last night along streets lined by a cheering multitude numbered in tens of thousands to face 20 000 persons in the packed Chicago stadium where he set forth the emphatic declaration

"All that this administration has done all that it proposes to do—and this it does propose to do—is to use every power and authority of the federal government to protect the commerce of America from the selfish forces which ruined it"

To the credit of the new deal he said "the train of American

ABOARD LANDON SPECIAL EN ROUTE ACROSS INDIANA, Oct 15 Addressing his presidential campaign to Indiana farmers Gov Alf M Landon asserted today "it is the farmers and the workers that eventually will play Santa Claus to the new deal's program of reckless extravagance

"I am opposed to waste extravagance and debt because I am opposed to the ultimate confiscation of farms and homes" the Republican nominee said in opening his drive for Indiana's 14 electoral votes at Kendallville first of seven scheduled stops in the Hoosier state

"Bonded indebtedness of government is in reality a first mortgage on every home and farm in this nation" he said adding that "new deal maladministration has hurt the farmer more than any one else

As the Landon train moved southward William L Hutcheson, director of the labor division, Republican national committee issued a statement saying "direct evidence exists that the new deal is using its influence to control the internal affairs of labor unions

"This was illustrated," Hutcheson said, "when notice went forth to compel union men of Chicago to march in the parade held in that city last night for President Roosevelt

Cites 'Ultimatum'

Hutcheson charged an "ultimatum" went out to the Brotherhood of Painters Decorators and Paper Hangers saying "you are requested to be in a parade and you are subject to fine should you not appear"

"Organized labor should resent and resist this effort to lash them into line for the new deal, he said. "Its members should answer this un-American dictation at the polls in November"

Landon concluded his appeal for Michigan's 19 Electoral votes at Sturgis this morning

He spoke from the balcony of a Grand Rapids hotel last night at the end of a 180 mile trip from Detroit,

With his major speeches out of the way Landon increased the number of his back platform talks to 10—at Sturgis, Mich Kendallville Huntington Wabash Peru, Logansport Lafayette and Attica, Ind, and Danville and Decatur, Ill.

In Topeka Friday

He planned to reach Topeka early Friday after an overnight trip across Illinois and Missouri

Landon's talk tonight, given after a parade through red torch lighted streets called for "true liberalism" in government as contrasted to "mere change"

The Kansas governor campaigned through central Michigan making rear platform speeches to thousands who gathered around his special train at Flint, Lansing, Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids

He reminded workmen in his audience that starting next year, one per cent of their wages would be taken out of their pay envelopes because of the social security act, and he declared this money would go into a huge fund which any future congress could use as it saw fit.

Hits Social Security

Landon's attack on the social security act coincided with a statement by Henry Ford in Detroit this morning indorsing the candidacy of the Kansas governor and devoting much of his statement to an assault on the social security act, which he described [illegible] on the working [illegible] designed to benefit.

Holiday Signs Showing Up At City Postoffice

One of the first signs of the approaching holiday season is the preparation for the handling of the annual holiday mail which soon will be getting under way at the Marion postoffice

The vanguard of the Christmas mail which is the holiday gifts and greetings for foreign countries will begin arriving about Nov 1 Postmaster L L Lamborn said in discussing the holiday activities While the foreign shipment of holiday packages from here is not heavy Marion has its share in proportion to the population he explained The number of packages mailed from this office varies around 50 a check showed Most of it is for delivery in China Japan Italy England Ireland South America and ports not so far distance Should there be any Marion residents planning to remember relatives or friends in the South Sea Islands they had better start now to mail their gifts as it often takes a ship 30 days or more to reach these tropical islands he explained Boats leave only every three months for those ports according to the postal schedules

Using the monthly postal receipts as a yardstick there will be an increase in the holiday business the postmaster anticipates

A flat postal rate of 14 cents a pound is charged for foreign mail and different countries establish their own transit charge

Many strange postal regulations are revealed in a study of the laws of foreign lands governing the mails For instance Marionites and others in the United States are prohibited from sending skim milk firearms including air guns to the Malay Federated States in southern Asia And doting uncles aunts or grandparents are not allowed to mail baby pacifiers to Mesopotamia Neither can they send cosmetics toilet articles or coffee plants

At least one Marion lad is going to get his Christmas letter to Santa Claus off early He tagged the mail carrier on his route recently and delivered his message to the friend of all good little boys and girls An airplane was a high light in the gift line and the letter carried the usual promise to be a good boy Now you see that he gets this was his admonition to the postman who assured him that he would

Three things should be remembered in sending Christmas packages Postmaster Lamborn stated

Mail packages early
Print addresses plainly
Wrap packages securely

New Deal Oratory Precedes Roosevelt Invasion of Ohio

By The Associated Press

Behind a barrage of new deal oratory, Ohio Democrats got ready today to greet President Roosevelt on his campaign trek through the state.

Democratic guns boomed loudest last night, but Republicans swept into action on two fronts.

President Roosevelt arrives in Cincinnati Friday morning for a two-hour reception before making a series of platform addresses en route to Cleveland via Columbus.

The Democratic leader of the U. S. senate, Joe Robinson of Arkansas, told a Canton audience last night that "Gov. Smith and Gov. Landon don't know what they are talking about when they say President Roosevelt failed to carry out the platform on which he was elected."

Refers to Al Smith

Besides the Republican presidential nominee, Landon, Robinson referred to Alfred E. Smith of New York, who bolted the Democratic party to support Landon.

Robinson added that "if the business men of America wait for the balancing of the budget by Gov. Alfred M. Ladnon, they will wait for the morning of resurrection."

Gov. Martin L. Davey also spoke. He praised his administrative record and described his Republican opponent, Atty. Gen. John W. Bricker, as "the first best promiser the state of Ohio ever has known."

New deal campaigners going into action today were: Charles West, under secretary of the interior, at Findlay; Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, at Eaton, and John Cudahy, ambassador to Poland, at Canton.

Allen Goes to Urbana

James J. Allen, former governor of Kansas, goes to Urbana Friday for a Republican rally.

Charles Brand, former Republican congressman from the seventh district (Urbana), spoke in support of President Roosevelt last night in a Columbus radio address sponsored by the Roosevelt agricultural committee.

"Various national administrations have recognized the farm problem," Brand said, "but none has bravely and sincerely determined to bring the gross inequality of agriculture to an end until the present administration."

James F. Lincoln of Cleveland, member of the Republican national finance committee, said in Cincinnati that President Roosevelt was an "amateur" who distributed "your money and mine on canals in Florida that will never be finished, on a dam in Maine which already has been abandoned, classes in tap dancing bridge and amateur theatricals."

Bricker in Sidney

Bricker carried his campaign into Sidney today after leaving in southern Ohio assertions that E. L. Bowsher, state director of education, had been forced to retract "a political propaganda letter" to Ohio school teachers.

Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, Democratic nominee for congress in the second (Cincinnati) district urged unit presidents of the National Union for Social Justice to vote a straight Democratic ticket with the exception of President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner.

He requested that the vote for Rep. William Lemke for President and Thomas C. O'Brien for vice president. Lemke and O'Brien are Union party candidates.

Beware The Cough
From a common cold
That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

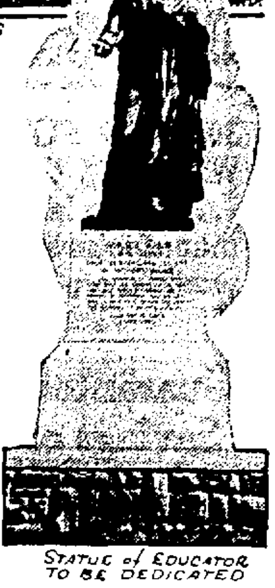
Ohio College To Honor Noted Educator Friday

ANTIOCH IN THE DAYS OF HORACE MANN

HORACE MANN - FIRST PRESIDENT of ANTIOCH COLLEGE



STATUE of EDUCATOR TO BE DEDICATED

Special to The Star

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., Oct. 15—Ohio's share in a great man will be celebrated at Antioch college here tomorrow. Horace Mann, native son of Massachusetts and perhaps America's greatest educator, spent the last six years of his life as president of Antioch in the little village of Yellow Springs. During these years he conducted what might fairly be called the first experimental college in America.

Antioch's celebration has been designated by the National Education association as the formal opening of the nationwide Horace Mann Centennial year of 1937. It includes a two-day educational conference of "The Function of Education in a Democracy," the dedication of a statue of Horace Mann, and a play about the great educator's life.

At the dedication of the monument, to be held in Glen Helen at 3:45 p. m., the statue will be presented by Hugh Taylor Birch, the donor; Homer C. Corry of Springfield, secretary of the board of Trustees, will accept it on behalf of the college, and Payson Smith of the National Education association will deliver the dedicatory address.

The play "Testament of Faith" will be presented both Friday and Saturday nights by Antioch faculty and students. It depicts in nine scenes Mann's life as a legislator and educator. The statue to be unveiled Friday afternoon is a twin of the Horace Mann monument at the Boston Statehouse. It is the work of Emma Stebbins.

"Feature Day" will open the Institute. Demonstrations will include food servings, showing new and helpful ways of getting the most out of modern gas ranges.

The second day's program has been designated as "The Talk of the Town," with demonstrations on the preparation and serving of salads and desserts. The series will close with "Health Day." The program will include a discussion of simmer cooking with emphasis on new and healthful ways of preparing vegetable dishes.

Functions of Glands

There are many glands in the human body. The substances they manufacture contain certain chemical combinations. This process was devised by kindly nature to aid in the proper functioning of the body and its organs.

Some glands have ducts or canals to carry away their products. An example of this type is the salivary gland located in the mouth. This gland secretes saliva which mixes with the food in chewing and aids in its digestion.

The "endocrine glands," or "ductless glands," deliver their products directly into the blood stream. There are no canals to carry their secretions outward. The thyroid, parathyroids, suprarenals, pituitary, thymus and pineal glands are the names of the ductless glands, the glands of "internal secretion."

There are exceptions to this rule because a few such organs serve in two ways. They produce both an internal and external secretion. The pancreas, or "sweetbread," is an example of this type of gland.

An alteration in the normal mechanism of the ductless glands results in some more or less serious disturbance of body function. Such conditions as "myxedema" or "cretinism," of which I have told you before may occur when an important gland like the thyroid manufactures too little of its product. Increased activity of the thyroid gland may lead to a constitutional disorder, such as "Grave's disease" or "exophthalmic goitre."

Another distressing disturbance, which is marked by muscular spasms, occurs when the parathyroids are injured or removed. This sometimes happens in the goitre operation. The chief function of these glands is the regulation of the amount of lime in the body. This mineral is essential to the blood and tissues of the body. Disastrous results may occur if these important glands are damaged.

The endocrine glands have a decided bearing on the height, weight and functions of the body. It is believed they also influence the personality, intelligence, complexion, emotions and other characteristics of an individual. These glands are intimately related to the general well-being of the body.

Disturbances of the endocrine glands are now successfully treated by the administration of extracts made from the corresponding glands of animals. These are especially prepared, sterilized and made ready to be administered in liquid or tablet form. Of course, they should be taken only under the personal supervision of a physician.

Do not be misled by extravagant and unconfirmed claims as to the virtues of such products. It is true that glandular extracts are beneficial in certain disorders, but it is equally true that they can do harm if taken unwisely.

Indian Killed Trying To Get Another Scalp

Tom Lyons, a strapping example of the finest physical type of Delaware Indian, a savage who boasted the scalps of 99 white men in his hunting belt, lived in the eastern part of Claridon township.

Something of Lyons' life was revealed when writers for the Federal Writers' Project, the American Guide, were gathering material for the forthcoming handbook.

Indian lore boasts that the strong and powerful Lyons lived to be 130 years old, and that his burning ambition during his last years was to add the hundredth scalp to his hunting belt.

Contrary to custom, Lyons did not compel his squaw to perform menial labor. She is reputed to have been the finest looking woman in the Wyandot tribe and Lyons was inordinately proud of her.

Lyons' attempt to get the hundredth scalp proved his waterloo, for Samuel Spurgeon, a pioneer who with other white settlers had tired of Lyons' boasting, met the Indian in the woods one day and the two fired. Lyons' shot missed its mark, but Spurgeon's felled the Indian and sent him to the happy hunting ground.

Lyons and fellow tribesmen lived in the territory north of the Greenville Treaty line. By terms of the treaty, which was drawn on Aug. 3, 1795, the line followed the southern boundary of Richland township in Marion county, passed through Waldo and Prospect townships and through the center of Morrow county. All land north of the line was occupied by the Indians, and all land south passed to the government.

Before the treaty was drawn the Delaware, Wyandot and Shawnee Indians roamed over what is now Marion and Morrow counties, and were menacing the government to the extent that General Anthony Wayne was appointed to command the forces to fight them. He defeated the confederated tribes under the leadership of Blue Jack at the Battle of Fallen Timbers in 1794.

Marion's Traffic School

WHEN automobile drivers take the time to attend a school of instruction arranged to explain the right way to operate a car for the safety of its occupants and other people on the streets and highways the situation begins to look promising

It is estimated that 80 persons were present at the opening session of the traffic school inaugurated by the Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce. That is only a small percentage of all the community's motor vehicle drivers but it is enough to show that there is a desire to solve the traffic problem. As the school continues there ought to be an increasing attendance with motorists helping the program along by offering their own ideas and suggestions and submitting questions arising from their own experiences

One of the chief benefits likely to be derived from the school will be its tendency to make motorists generally safety conscious. This influence should naturally reach all drivers whether they attend the classes or not as news of the school's proceedings is certain to spread through newspaper publication and in conversation

The Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce has started something which has vast possibilities if the movement catches on in other communities and becomes general. It is reasonable to believe that a development of that magnitude may be the outcome. And it is certain that if this results in causing automobile drivers to have the thought of safety uppermost in their minds many traffic hazards will be eliminated or at least greatly minimized

It would be a mark of notable distinction for Marion if this fine enterprise should be so successful as to take on statewide and even nationwide proportions. The most effective way to make that achievement possible is for Marion motorists to attend and take part in the school. Its next session will be Monday night

Control or Command?

Failure of the constitutional question to develop as a popular issue has been a disappointment. Indifference does not mean there is no such question. Rather it suggests that Americans have strayed so far from the roots of their liberty that new deal sneers at individualism may be a true reflection of majority opinion

Regardless of the shortcomings of the subject as vote bait Gov Landon a keener thinker than a campaigner anyway chose to talk about it at Detroit Tuesday night. Thereby he earned the gratitude of every American who realizes there is a threat to his heritage of personal liberty implicit in the political philosophy of collectivism and regimentation favored by the new deal

Two points of Gov Landon's speech illustrate exactly what is entailed

Gov Landon challenged President Roosevelt to declare openly whether he will seek in the prescribed way a constitutional amendment to authorize the change of government he desires or whether he will continue to work toward extension of federal control indirectly. The challenge strikes directly at something which Mr Roosevelt has dodged carefully since his ill natured comment about a horse and buggy Constitution after the supreme court's unanimous rejection of the national industrial recovery act. Is it his idea to control the initiative of his countrymen or to command it?

Gov Landon pledged himself to ask for the repeal if he is elected of all acts giving autocratic power to the chief executive—power which Mr Roosevelt himself once admitted would shackle the people in the hands of an unscrupulous administrator. There has been no more revealing glimpse of the President than that view of himself as a benevolent autocrat

The possibility that the United States might drift into the same whirlpool of dictatorship which has sucked millions of citizens of other governments into the clutch of autocracy is a vital matter even if it isn't considered a rousing political issue. Gov Landon whatever happens to his candidacy Nov 3 has the satisfaction of knowing that historians as they read the record of his campaign won't be forced to conclude that the most important problem of the times was ignored completely

On Way To Final Forecast

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

EN ROUTE TO INDIANA Oct 15—I have now covered 30 states out of the 40 planned. The eight eliminated are in the so-called Democratic solid south. Of the 10 yet to be visited three are border states close to the south and likely to go Democratic too

The trend in seven states—Indiana, Michigan Illinois Pennsylvania New York New Jersey and Delaware—will when surveyed on my trip in the next 10 days influence the final forecast which I expect to write for Oct 31—the Saturday before election

I have said that the election looked fifty-fifty to me. I based it on the way the voters were dividing in the states already visited but the seven states yet to be surveyed comprise 164 votes in the electoral college and despite what one may find in the west the outcome in those seven states east of the Mississippi is everything to the electoral result

Thus assuming that Governor Landon carries certain close states west of the Mississippi I have worked out one set of electoral tables which show that he could lose Illinois or Indiana or Michigan or Ohio respectively and be elected. On another calculation he could lose certain western states that are at present doubtful but leaning in his direction and yet be elected. Whatever combination is used mathematically and with knowledge of political trends the large electoral vote states play a decisive part. That's why I leave them always for study in the last three weeks of October

I might add here that outside of the border states I have not been in a single state which the local Republican leaders would privately concede as lost even though in many instances an uphill fight was frankly admitted

Anybody who thinks the election is in the bag need only observe that since the nominating conventions last June and notwithstanding nationwide radio hookups President Roosevelt has travelled more miles than his opponent. Likewise the states visited are for the most part in the doubtful or close category and might go either way by a small margin of votes

Three Possible Outcomes

Now there are three ways that this election may turn out—not just two. I am speaking now as to effect on business and future trends in American politics

First Mr Roosevelt might win by a large electoral vote but a small margin of popular votes. This would accentuate the protest idea and influence Democratic congressmen to be independent of White House control

Second Mr Landon might win by a close margin of popular votes and yet a comfortable majority of electoral votes

Third Mr Roosevelt or Mr Landon might win by a big margin of popular votes

I am prepared even at this stage of the campaign to discount the third possibility as highly improbable. This is a close election with respect to popular votes and I would not be surprised if out of the 45 000 000 votes expected to be cast the margin of the winner is not in excess of 2 000 000

Everywhere I have gone in the west and I see signs of it in the east too the popular vote majorities which Mr Roosevelt had four years ago are going to be reduced from 30 to 60 per cent. This means a lineup of Republican and Democrats more like normal years but with such increased registration as to make the total figure much larger even though the margins reckoned in percentages will be narrower than usual

In a few states we will witness the phenomenon of Mr Landon getting a minority of the votes and yet capturing the electoral vote because the Lemke vote will subtract just enough from the Roosevelt column to give Landon a plurality

Protest Vote Large

Not the least important is the size of the protest vote against the Roosevelt administration even if the President is re-elected. It will probably bring in its wake increased Republican membership in congress many Republican governors and state officers

In this connection I was much interested the other day in a letter received from a lady in Arizona. It was as follows

I hesitated a long while before writing you. My husband didn't think I should which rather convinced me I ought to. Anyway here is my way of looking at the forthcoming election

I listen to the radio and hear all the speeches. When the Democratic speakers get through I think they are right. When the Republican speakers get through I think they are right

Now four years ago I voted for Mr Hoover. I think he got a pretty raw deal. This year I have decided to vote for Mr Roosevelt. But I believe just enough of what I have heard on the radio about the issues so that I am going to vote for all other Republicans so that they can watch him

This lady has just the opposite idea from those who are urging that Governor Landon couldn't do anything if elected because while he might have a Republican house he wouldn't have a Republican senate. The fact is that under our system of government it was intended for the congress to act as a check on the executive. Sen Carter Glass Democrat blames congress for giving Mr Roosevelt such extensive powers and so much money to spend. I believe that if the election result is close as to popular votes Mr Roosevelt will not control the Democratic senate but that we shall see a substantial insurgency on the Democratic side. Senators study election returns minutely and if they see the Roosevelt tide receding they will get on the bandwagon for 1938 by discovering what are the reasons for the 1936 protest vote

Likewise American business will feel less disturbed if the election reveals a sizeable protest vote than if it goes overwhelmingly for Roosevelt on a popular vote. For the popular vote and not the electoral vote will indicate what kind of congress we are

Buy - Buy Baby Bonds

BY ELIOT JONES
Professor of Transportation and Public Utilities Stanford University

MANY of the policies of the administration are based upon the belief that a program of liberal spending will help to lift the country out of the depression. In this category fall the tax on the undistributed earnings of corporations which is meant to force corporations to pay larger dividends and thus stimulate spending by shareholders the WPA which aims to place purchasing power in the hands of the unemployed the criticism of bankers for their failure to lend more liberally and the constant endeavor to raise wages the theory being that purchasing power in the hands of laborers will do more good than purchasing power in the hands of employers because the laborers will be more likely to spend the money

At the same time the treasury is actively pushing the sale of baby bonds bonds selling for as little as $18.75. These bonds are made of low denomination so as to bring them within the means of persons of moderate incomes. The bonds do not even pay interest currently the holder gets his interest in the form of an accretion of his principal. The purchaser of a bond for $18.75 will if he holds it for 10 years receive the sum of $25 which works out at an annual interest rate of 2.9 per cent for the 10 year period. During the first 8 months after these bonds were placed on sale more than $200 000 000 worth were sold

Is there not a measure of inconsistency in the government policies? Certainly the people who buy baby bonds have quite moderate incomes and the purchase of a bond means a corresponding reduction in the volume of their purchases of goods. Are they not by their purchases of bonds retarding the flow of money into trade and thus prolonging the depression?

Reason for Hesitation

Apart from the question whether the government policies are inconsistent—and this need not disturb us particularly because we have become used to that—should not the purchase of these bonds be encouraged? Under ordinary circumstances the answer would most emphatically be in the affirmative. Those who are able to make provision for the future owe it to constituted society to do so in order that they may not eventually become a burden to society. And the purchasers of baby bonds can be certain that they will eventually get their interest for it is inconceivable that the government even though it did break its promise to redeem certain of its paper money in gold will fail to redeem the baby bonds at their maturity. Why then any hesitation at this time about the purchase of the bonds

The reason for hesitation is that an area of inflation with much higher prices than those prevailing today is probably ahead of us and money spent in the future will almost certainly have less purchasing power than it has today

The government officials who are advocating that persons of moderate means whose wants are quite inadequately supplied as it is postpone their purchase of needed goods to an uncertain future are assuming quite a responsibility. But of course what they are interested in is getting the funds required to finance government spending

With a change of a few judges in the supreme court the executive and congress may ignore and repudiate any or all the rights protected by the Constitution and inaugurate any measures they please as long as they claim that such measures are in the interests of general welfare. They may confiscate the [illegible]0 billion dollars that belong to 100 million holders of insurance policies they may destroy the value of [illegible] billion savings deposits by reducing the value of the dollar they may confiscate all private property they may deny the rights of freedom of speech freedom of religion freedom of contract and take away any other rights of the citizens simply by proclaiming that such acts are in the interest of general welfare

Russia An Example

The centralized government of Russia is a general welfare government of this type. The property of the citizens was confiscated in the interests of general welfare. The schools were forced to teach the children that there is no God in the interest of general welfare. Citizens who oppose the government are shot down or otherwise punished in the interest of general welfare. The Communist Socialist government of Spain orders ministers of the gospel shot down in the interest of general welfare

It is the glory of the American citizens that his fundamental rights are protected against any and all unwarranted assaults made against his legitimate freedom by the government. It is not believed that the rank and file of the American people are willing to sell their inalienable rights for the provision of doles bonuses and other material rewards assessed on the tax payers

Can Communists Socialists and other radicals masquerading under conservative names lead the American people to repudiate and destroy the achievements of freedom that were gained through a thousand years of struggle by their Anglo Saxon ancestors? As we meet the issue we are not depressed

In raptures we'll ride the stormiest gales,
For God's hand is on the helm and His breath is in the sails

The Roosevelt Record

2 —The Greatest Spender.

No other conclusion is possible than that the administration at Washington is an irresponsible spending government its spending conducted by those who have no knowledge of how wealth is produced and perhaps care less —Lewis W Douglas former Budget Director under President Roosevelt September 26 1935

I REGARD reduction in federal spending as one of the most important issues of this campaign. And again I accuse the present administration of being the greatest spending administration in peace times in all our history

These sentences from candidate Roosevelt's speeches in 1932 summarize one of the most effective talking points in his campaign. It is my pledge and promise he explained that rigid governmental economy shall be forced by a stern and unremitting administration policy of living within our income

Even more specifically the Democratic platform—that admirable document Mr Roosevelt had said I subscribe to it 100 per cent—called for a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of the federal government

When therefore Mr Roosevelt immediately after coming into office urged reductions heralded as effecting this 25 per cent saving the nation heaved a sigh of relief. Here was a man who not only talked economy but actually cut expenditures

The period of economy did not last long however. John Maynard Keynes the British economist called at the White House and according to the Washington correspondents converted the President to a different policy. Mr Keynes denounced the folly of balancing budgets. He urged a public works program of $400 000 000 a month for America. (His own country had rejected his theories)

The results are written in the succeeding budgets of this country

Where Mr Hoover had spent $5 274 000 000 in 1932 and $5 307 000 000 in 1933 Mr Roosevelt spent $7 105 000 000 in 1934 $7 516 000 000 in 1935 $9 246 000 000 in 1936 and according to estimates will spend $8 763 000 000 in the current fiscal year which ends June 30 1937

The Roosevelt administration if it does not increase its outlays for the current year will have spent in its four years $32 250 000 000 to Mr Hoover's $18 795 000 000

In other words Mr Roosevelt outdid Mr Hoover by nearly two to one as the greatest peace time spender in all our history

O O McIntyre's Diary of Fact, Fancy and Folks

NEW YORK Oct 15—No hotel patrons look so content as those in the Bowery's flop houses. Unshaven frowzy they sit in the window chairs with a look of bland content. A misnomer to call them floaters. It is the big uptown inn that caters to the floater. On the Bowery they stay put for years

The old guard in these dingy caravansaries stay on forever proud of belonging to one spot of the knowledge of the neighborhood the soup houses—all the arcana of the block. They have struck roots. Indeed they are the landed gentry glorifying in the domain

In a way they are the Don Pomposos of an Unwashed Union League Club. Going past a murky window the other evening my eyes met those of a bleary eyed regular. His expression glinted superiority. He was at home comfortable with two hamburgers under his belt.

And we were punk a nibby uptown slummer. Why should we worry? He seemed to say. We can always get a hand out and a drink of water. And if we die penniless somebody will be sure to bury us. Don't worry about that. It is the one thing we can count on!

America's three national dishes—I believe George Rector is the authority—are baked beans pumpkin pie and flap jacks. When Idwal Jones was in Mexico City recently he learned the fashionable dish was Pan-Cake or Chinese bread. It outranked even crepes Suzette in popularity. He went to the original place for an order. That's just a stack of wheats and syrup he exclaimed. Sure said the Chinese but they don't know down here. He had worked as a dishwasher along the Panhandle and was cleaning up with his innovation

What is known as The Cowboy Craze in entertainment has left many a cayus on the far flung ranches of the west riderless these days. Their masters are in New York Hollywood or Miami dolefully trolling a ballad to the plunking of a banjo. Even the Clubs Intime of the ocean liners have gone completely pampus the throb of their engines dimmed by the canter of Good Old Paint. The craze derived from the vogue of the dude ranches radio vaqueros and the Madison Square rodeo. Most of these robust baritones in chaps and Stetsons like Bing Crosby by long admission never laid hands on a cow in their lives

It is common error to imagine cowboys and all out doors men have voices like the bull of Bashan. Whereas they are likely to have the vocal cords of a mosquito. The redoubtable Bob Bartlett who has fought roaring Arctic hurricanes for 40 years has the thin pip squeak of a 12 year old choir boy. So much so it has to be all shrilled up for the movie shorts

Singing cowboys are not so modern anyway. The first on record was Darling Bob McKay who sang in a St. Louis saloon in 1879 dressed like a plains scout. He was a crooning guitarist—with a Benny Fields husk—and perhaps as impervious to epithets as crooners of this day. Darling Bob was just that to the stout lass Calamity Jane who ditched him for Wild Bill Hickok

The delicacy is said to be in especial favor with South Americans. It might—here goes another in the bleachers!—be a go in the team rooms as Garden of Eden Salad

"We urge upon our people of making it a rule that their minor children shall not attend any motion picture until they have first satisfied themselves that the films to be shown are of wholesome character for juveniles," said the committee on the question of motion pictures. "We challenge our people to attend only wholesome, worthy pictures since the degraded work [illegible] with their own moral welfare and make them accomplices in a conspiracy to enrich motion picture producers at the expense of people's moral order."

On the question of war the committee said, "we urge upon our people their full cooperation in the adoption of measures designed to create the will to peace, to assure our country's neutrality, if war should come, and to limit our seemingly extravagant expenditures on the military establishment of the United States."

Dangers to the church from "Atheistic communism," Dr. F. H. Knubel told the delegates, "are real but they do not call for hysterical action or high-pressure methods."

The [illegible] delegates were expected to reelect Dr. Knubel of New York as head of the church. He has directed its activities since its formation in 1918.

"We are told that there are treacherous forces at work through the press, over the radio, in the forum and even back of the sacred pulpit spreading propaganda to destroy the faith born with the smile of a babe in Bethlehem," Dr. Knubel added in his biennial report.

"In a serious time like the present we Lutherans cannot permit ourselves to be drawn from the confessional redemptive heart of the gospel by any merely attractive and novel doctrine and educational ideas and jargon. Sometimes our people even occasionally some of our leaders seem to be tempted by such 'bright lights.'"

A delegation of German leaders of the Lutheran world convention, headed by the convention president, Bishop August Marahrens, received greetings of the delegates this morning. Others in the party coming here from the American Lutheran convention in San Antonio, Tex., were Rev. Hans Lilje, general secretary, and Rev. Hanes Meiser, bishop of Bavaria.

All three in America for a visit to various Lutheran churches, were scheduled to address a mass meeting tonight.

COWS THAT PRAY AND SHAKE HANDS HELP AMUSE KENTON GRAVE DIGGER

LET US PRAY

"Don't you think we should pray?" says Eddie Mullins, Kenton, O., grave digger. And Jersey, one of his pet cows, dutifully scrapes the ground. Then Eddie turns to Mable. Up comes the right hoof as he tells her to shake.

SHAKE, PAL!

By The Associated Press

KENTON, O., Oct. 15 — Eddie Mullins, who digs graves in Grove cemetery, admits his job's a bit depressing but it would be worse if it weren't for Jersey and Mable. Jersey and Mable are his pet cows.

Eddie, who loves animals and would like to have a farm of his own, walked into the dry brown pasture to the east of the cemetery. He had just finished planting some evergreens and had a few minutes to spend with his friends.

Both trotted toward him, each apparently eager to be first to receive a pat on the head. Jersey won the trot.

Jersey Prays

"Don't you think it would be a good time to pray for rain so the grass will be green again?" said Mullins to Jersey.

Jersey looked at him for a moment and then sank to her front knees, her head almost to the ground, but she still had her eyes focussed on him.

"Look at you," reproved Mullins, "you'll never get rain by praying that way." Jersey then bowed her head until her chin touched the ground.

Mable Shows Her Love

"That's better," said Mullins. "Now show me that you're my pal." Jersey rose and proffered her right hoof, which Eddie took, much the same as a pet dog shakes hands.

Next Eddie said: "How old are you, Jersey?" Very promptly Jersey stamped her right foot on the ground five times. "That's right, you tell the truth about your age and that's more than a lot of girls do nowadays."

Just then Mable came close to Eddie and rubbed the side of her face along his neck. "How much do you love me, Mable?" questioned Eddie. And Mable went "Moo-o-o-n."

"Taught her that when she was a calf," observed Mullins as he "shook hands" with her and started back to the cemetery.

"Before I fed her I would pull her head up on my shoulder. Then I'd give a few 'moo-o-os' and pretty soon she caught the idea. Now she wants to do it all the time."

Both cows give goodly quantities of milk, he says.

Rooster Does Trick, Too

Going through the yard Eddie came upon "Paddy," a husky rooster. "How big are you, old boy?" Paddy immediately spread his wings and fulffed up his feathers in a determined effort to look as big as a turkey gobbler. "I taught him that last winter when he had his comb frozen during the extremely cold weather," observed Eddie. "Before feeding him I would stretch out his wings and talk to him about how big he was. He soon got the idea."

ROOSEVELT POINTS TO U. S. RECOVERY

business is moving ahead. Mind you, it did not get out of the ditch itself, it was hauled out by your government."

The President's return as a seeker of reelection to the city—and stadium—where he was nominated in 1932 was marked by a mass turnout which taxed the efforts of 1,600 policemen.

100,000 on Streets

To clear his automobile route from special train to stadium the motorcycle escort parted a marching throng estimated at 100,000 to 150,000 by the police and Co-chairman Barnet Hodes of the reception committee.

Entering the stadium in a glare of lights amid the din of fireworks and the rumble of cheers, President Roosevelt launched promptly into his theme:

That "behind the growing recovery of today is a story of deliberate government acceptance of responsibility to save business—to save the American system of private enterprise and economic democracy—a record unequaled by any government in history."

He asserted "the previous administration in Washington" had failed to act because "it was high-finance-minded—manned and controlled by a handful of men who in turn controlled and by one financial device or another took their toll from the greater part of all other business and industry."

The audience interpolated loud "boos."

Under that system, he said, "independent business was allowed to exist only by sufferance."

Fought Monopoly

The new deal, he declared, "fought to break the deadly grip which monopoly has in the past been able to fasten" on business.

In 1933, he said, the "average business man" wanted the government to take certain actions. He listed them:

"1. Stop deflation and falling prices—and we did it.

"2. Increase the purchasing power of his customers who were industrial workers in the cities—and we did it.

"3. Increase the purchasing power of his customers on the farms—and we did it.

"4. Decrease interest rates, power rates and transportation rates—and we did it.

"5. Protect him from the losses due to crime, bank robbers, kidnapers, blackmailers—and we did it."

He declared the administration thus had preserved "private profit and free enterprise."

The "net federal debt today," he said, was "lower in proportion to the income of the nation and in proportion to the wealth of the nation" than on March 4, 1937.

Predicts Decrease

"In the future," he predicted, "it will become lower still because with the rising tide of national income and national wealth, the very causes of our emergency spending are disappearing, government expenditures are coming down and government income is going up."

Bank depositors had benefited, since he took office, from the government's guarantee of their accounts, he said, investors by rising stocks and bond levels, [illegible] by increased [illegible] customers, [illegible] in the industries by greater earnings and fewer bankruptcies, [illegible] by increased [illegible] men by a steadier supply of products.

"Some people say that all this recovery has just happened," he said, "but in a complicated modern world recoveries from depressions do not just happen. The years from 1929 to 1933 when we waited for recovery just to happen, proves the point. But in 1933 we did not wait. We acted."

Emphasizes Recovery

His audience laughed and cheered when he said some of the "sick" businessmen, merchants and industrialists who in 1933 regarded Washington as "an emergency hospital" were now "well enough to throw their crutches at the doctor."

Applause thundered out when he said economic improvement had been such that "a whole nation that had not been cheerful for years is full of cheers once more."

As the President and his party entered the great hall the thousands leaped to their feet with a deafening roar, punctuated by shrill whistles.

Mr. Roosevelt confronted an ocean of small American flags which were waved zealously by the spectators crammed in the building to the roof and blocking the aisles.

The mighty stadium organ thundered "Happy Days Are Here Again" and the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Banners Displayed

The hall was hung with banners and flags, over the rostrum hung a great sign, "Not a national bank failure from October, 1935, to October, 1936 a record for 55 years."

Above this sign were two maps with black dots showing bank failures before and after Roosevelt. The portrait of the President surrounded by flags all but hid the organ loft.

Mayor E. J. Kelly presented Mr. Roosevelt in glowing terms as the "friend of the common people," and the crowd yelled madly.

As Mr. Roosevelt stepped forward on the arm of an aid, the vast throng leaped up with a mighty roar.

The crowds were jolly and good natured except when the newspaper cars in the rear of the presidential procession came along. Hoodlums and pretty girls, middle-aged men and prim-looking older women, joined in booing the newspaper cars. For blocks the correspondents with the presidential party were booed as the crowd yelled:

"To hell with the Tribune," and "Nuts to Hearst."

The Chicago Tribune and Hearst papers here are bitterly fighting Roosevelt.

Replies to Landon

As though in direct answer to Gov. Alf M. Landon's speech at Detroit last night when the Republican nominee demanded the President give assurances against dictatorial control of business, labor and agriculture, the President declared:

MRS. SIMPSON ASKS FOR DIVORCE DECREE

the friendship between him and the feminine petitioner be made.

The husband's close associates declared Simpson, although long unhappy domestically, never would file suit against his wife because of the necessity of charging misconduct under British law and Mrs. Simpson's friendship with the king.

The actual divorce action, under ordinary circumstances, is a mere formality, consisting of only a few minutes' testimony.

The American girl, who made her debut to Baltimore society during the early years of the World war, was divorced from Lt. Earl Spencer in 1927 after 11 years of married life.

The announcement of the impending divorce action climaxed a long series of reports that they had reached a parting of the ways—reports which gathered impetus when Simpson remained in London while his svelte keen-witted wife joined King Edward's small party of guests aboard the $1,500,000 steam yacht, Nahlin, during the king's recent holiday cruise in the Adriatic Sea.

Estrangement Reported

A few hours before Simpson admitted his wife had filed suit for divorce the rumors of a definite estrangement gained strength as the couple broke up their menage in fashionable Bryanston Court.

An attempt at a reconciliation of the couple was made in July, when they met in Paris. Friends urged Simpson to accept an invitation from his friend and sovereign, King Edward, to join the king's holiday cruise party along with Mrs. Simpson.

But Simpson returned to England and awaited his wife's return. She did not go back to their flat, however, on her return to England but traveled directly on to King Edward's Scottish seat at Balmoral Castle.

She Goes to London

When the royal house party broke up, she accompanied Edward to London—and the final rift followed.

It has long been known that the couple were at odds, chiefly because the sparkling-mooded American girl preferred royal companionship to life with a work-a-day shipping broker husband.

The denouncement was hastened, it was said, by an ever-growing stream of reports linking his wife's name with that of the bachelor king-emperor—among them the report that Mrs. Simpson, now that Queen Mary has moved to Marlborough House, might become an "unofficial hostess" in Buckingham palace, presiding with King Edward over the small, intimate supper parties which Edward delights in giving.

To Live Same Way

Simpson's mode of life and work will continue unchanged, friends said. He will remain head of the London office of Simpson, Spencer & Young and soon will resume the daily routine at the office, which he has visited only occasionally during the recent troubled weeks.

While the [illegible] "Wally"—her beauty, her [illegible] on the dance floor [illegible] King Edward [illegible] every [illegible] came as "Mrs. Simpson's husband."

Only rarely have photographs of him appeared, while London and continental newspapers and rotogravure sections displayed literally hundreds of poses of his glamorous wife—displayed them, at least, except for a notable lull when many British newspapers announced they would not "invade the privacy of his majesty" by publishing photographs of the king and Mrs. Simpson snapped on the Adriatic outing.

Quiet, Scholarly

To his friends, Simpson is quiet, scholarly, smartly tailored—a typical English Guards officer of good taste. Instead of high-pressure night life, he prefers a good book, snugly ensconced in a lounge chair before an open fire at home.

These "old-fashioned" tastes, friends say, were at least partly responsible for the breakdown of his marriage to the gay Baltimore divorcee. It was his second matrimonial venture, as it was his wife's.

Simpson plays the Englishman's games—golf, billiards and racquets—but he dislikes the pace of the gay set in which his monarch travels and into which his lovely and lively American wife first won an introduction and then undisputed place as Edward's closest woman friend and companion.

In her divorce action Mrs. Simpson, as the plaintiff, is merely expected to submit the routine proofs of her husband's alleged "infidelity"—although there may be some slight, but probably not serious, hitch due to the fact that British justices have lately insisted on not permitting a nameless "unknown women" to be cited as co-respondent.

LANDON STRESSES NEW DEAL'S DEBTS

lions of dollars, more billions than our present national debt amounts to. Congress, any future congress, will be able to use this money as it sees fit."

Taken to Hotel

Arriving in Grand Rapids at 7:20 p. m. Landon was driven in an open car down streets packed with spectators and fringed with red flares to the Portland hotel. From where he stood on the balcony, the Kansan looked down on a solid sea of faces spreading more than a block in each direction. Police Chief Frank E. O'Malley estimated the crowd, including spectators along the path of Landon's car, at 75,000.

Following his speech the governor motored to the home of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg to spend the night. Members of the party stayed on the Landon special train because hotel accommodations were not available.

In a speech which summarized most of the arguments of the Republican campaign, Landon said that a liberal government means one "liberal enough in its outlook on life not to mistake change for progress."

Replies to Roosevelt

In an indirect reference to the fact that President Roosevelt has been charging him with making economy speeches in the east and advocating liberal spending in the west, Landon said:

"Speaking of liberality, let me say what I said east and west. If I am elected chief executive, the budget is going to be balanced, but it is not going to be balanced by depriving our needy and unemployed of the relief that is their right until they can recover real jobs at good wages."

Asserting that there are still 11,000,000 unemployed in the country, Landon asked how anyone could say that "happy days are here again?"

Just before the train pulled into Jackson, it stopped so that Landon's private car was opposite a culvert being constructed as a WPA project. About 50 of the WPA workers gathered around the candidate's car. A member of his staff distributed handfulls of sunflower lapel buttons to them, but Landon did not come out on the platform.

There were about 10,000 people packed around the railroad station at Jackson.

At Battle Creek Landon said that many Kansans are visitors in the town because of its reputation as a health resort. At his next stop he told his audience that Kalamazoo is known as the famous celery city of the world.

At Grand Rapids he said he had spent a good deal of his life in close contact with Grand Rapids furniture.

HEADS OF 4 LEGION GROUPS INSTALLED

District Commander Ault of Mt. Gilead Conducts Ceremony Here.

Officers of Marion county's four American Legion posts were installed in a mass ceremony conducted by E. V. "Bud" Ault of Mt. Gilead, sixth district commander, Tuesday night at the Bird McGinnis Post No. 162 Dugout on South High street.

Commanders of the four corps of men who took office are Walter Behner, Bird-McGinnis post; Glen Allen, Caledonia post; Keith Ridgeway, LaRue post; Dr. J. W. Hull, Prospect post.

Rev. Karl Darkey of New Matamoras, chaplain of the Department of Ohio, guest speaker for the occasion, told the gathering of approximately 200 Legionnaires that the American Legion is similar to the automobile, in that the Legion forges ahead and puts through important legislation and then three out of every four veterans "hitch-hike" along, benefitting from the action taken by the Legion.

Dr. H. A. Hoopes of LaRue led the men in singing songs of the 1917-18 war period, with Judge Oscar Gast at the piano. Short talks were given by Dr. Hoopes, a county Legion officer, and Floyd Hartpence of Westerville, membership chairman for the sixth district.

The meeting was in charge of J. W. Llewellyn, chairman of the committee on installation. Lunch was served in the basement. Mr. Behner will announce his committees for the year at the next meeting of the Bird-McGinnis post on Oct. 27.

[illegible] agreed Elsa [illegible] be blackmail

Inspector Kennedy smiled slightly

Do you really think that Miss Little?" he asked searchingly

Elsa's conscience pricked her a trifle

"No," she admitted "I don't really think it, though I should like to I think Ruth really likes Mahony"

That ended the conversation and Elsa drove away When she had gone the Inspector stood for a few moments considering before he returned into the house His talk with Elsa had opened up an entirely new train of possibilities to him.

The Inspector was convinced that Mahony knew a good deal about

Do you really think that" Kennedy asked.

the kidnapping of Elsa and about her uncle's murder But during that short period of reflection he had made up his mind not to arrest him just yet

For one thing if he left Mahony at liberty there was the possibility that he might get on the track of other members of the kidnapping gang — more important members perhaps

For another thing he had a feeling that if he arrested Mahony now he might be doing just what somebody meant him to do somebody working very cleverly and cautiously behind the scenes

He was smiling when he re-entered Mahony's room his manner was that of one man paying an ordinary call upon another

Sorry to keep you waiting he said I haven't got anything very *important to talk about I came t*o see you because I believe you've lost a hat Is this yours?'

From his capacious overcoat pocket he lugged a crumpled object —the hat which Mahoney had left in the room in Jamaica Road and tossed it across to Mahony

Mahony had been a bit worried about that hat. He glanced at it casually

Yes it's mine he answered in an unconcerned tone It blew off my head when I was on top of a bus and was away before I could catch it. I didn't bother to go after it because it's only an old hat.

Now for some awkward questions about how that hat had got into the house in Jamaica Road he thought But he did not get the chance to deny anything Inspector Kennedy made a point of never asking people questions they expected

Who is Mr Brown?" he asked 'Is he a friend of yours?"

The question was quite unexpected it gave Mahony a very nasty shock For one moment he had a horrible feeling that the Inspector had discovered everything about Billy Rose.

'It's a very common name he answered The telephone directory contains pages of it I dare say I know somebody called Brown but I haven't any particular friend of that name

"Or enemy?" asked the Inspector

Characteristically the Inspector did not pursue that line of enquiry But he asked another unexpected question.

Is Mulgrave a friend of yours?"

Mulgrave was the man whom Mahony had left bound and gagged in the ditch near Watford when he rescued Ruth

'No he answered I don't know anyone named Mulgrave"

'Now I'll tell one' said the inspector in a disbelieving tone.

He rose from his chair and stood looking down at Mahony His manner was no longer casual his voice was crisp and business like

"Listen Mahony he said. 'I'm not sure whether it was actually you who killed Mr Little but I am sure you were in the house when it happened, and I'm sure you know all about the attempt to kidnap Miss Fraser Now I'm going to give you a chance.

"If you'll make a statement telling me all you know about the murder, I'll do my best to get you off lightly Think it over a bit. Imprisonment is better than hanging or even being murdered by your former friends"

What former friends?" asked Mahony

The kidnap gang replied the Inspector promptly

"Oh You think I was friendly with the kidnapping gang"

Yes And I also think you rescued Ruth Fraser from them went on the detective.

Mahony raised one eyebrow slightly

Who said Miss Fraser had been kidnapped?" he asked

"I say she was kidnapped replied Inspector Kennedy. You went straight on from the Little's that night and fetched her back from where she'd been taken and she's sheltering you out of gratitude Well what's your answer to that?

You make me laugh said Mahony

Laugh as much as you like while you can but you take my tip and think things over carefully said Kennedy

With that he left taking his companion with him

Terence gets tomorrow, a warning from Ruth Fraser

Drake Begins Story of His Impersonation of "Chief"

ALLEN DRAKE smiled frostily as Lillian said she would relay to Katie only a carefully edited story with himself wielding the blue pencil.

"I shan't have the slightest objection to your relaying to her anything I tell you," he said.

Lillian shot a quick shrewd glance at him and an instant later when he had averted his gaze from hers her eyes with a twinkle in them met mine significantly I knew that she had understood him aright and that her keen mind was already leaping ahead to see if she could find out for herself the things which he patently meant to suppress in the story for which we were all anxiously waiting

Well!" Harry Underwood intervened "Are we all set" I don't want to hurry things but that bird who's cluttering up the Dicky-bird's cage upstairs will have to be well on his way to another set of bars before daylight and that won't be long off now"

There's no reason for delay Allen Drake replied Are you sure there's no possibility of any one else hearing me?

We can make sure in two minutes" Dicky said rising abruptly Having conjugated his moods and tenses for so many years I was sure that he welcomed the opportunity for physical action to dissipate the jealous irritation which was swaying him and of which I guessed he was thoroughly ashamed

All Doors Locked

He made the rounds of the room locking the three doors leading from it and testing every window lock securely He even looked inside a closet opening off the corner and with a burlesqued gesture stooped and looked underneath the couch upon which Harry Underwood had stretched himself

Not a creature is stirring not even a mouse he quoted as he came back to his chair and I was sure I did not imagine a subtle jeer in his voice nor a sudden tightening of Allen Drake's denoting recognition of the sneer and resentment at it

Lillian laughed lightly and knew that she had seen the suppressed antagonism between the two men and was endeavoring to switch the conversational engine to a smoother track

If you'll use the soft pedal on that melodious voice of yours Allen she said I can guarantee that no sound will escape this room Harry and I always come down here and lock the doors when we want to stage a real row It's as near soundproof as any room can be So strut your stuff Ian We're all ears"

Meets the "Chief"

"There isn't very much to tell Allen Drake said settling into his chair and lowering his voice discreetly As you all know when a certain type of danger crops up and causes sleepless nights in Washington they always send out a hurry call for the chief as everybody who ever worked under him still calls him even though he is not now the actual head of the service

But make no mistake he's the head of whatever job he undertakes. He wouldn't take orders from a dictator with a capital "D" when he's once outlined a plan of work"

My heart thrilled with pride at the undisguised reverence and affection in his voice as he spoke of my father and the bars of antagonism I had raised against Allen Drake lowered perceptibly

"Unfortunately" he went on after a pause the rats for whom he is setting traps know that he is called away from his retirement whenever they begin gnawing at the foundations So whenever they are plotting an especially beastly job they set a watch upon your father to see if he has been called from home As long as he stays here they feel fairly safe

J. H. CLARK ASSAILS NEW DEAL AT LARUE

Two Hundred Attend G O P Rally, Upper Sandusky Lawyer Also Speaks.

John H Clark Marion attorney told an audience of more than 200 last night at an open air Republican meeting at LaRue that the new deal had carried out only two of the planks of the 1932 Democratic platform and had put into effect 12 of the planks of the Socialist party He asserted the new deal was no longer considered a part of the Democratic party and the only two planks carried out were the repeal of prohibition and enactment of social security measures

He also assailed the President for failing to reduce expenses pointing out that he stumped the country for three years before 1932 asking economy and that in the three years since 1932 he has avoided economy Mr Clark said the 12 lean years referred to by the President were years in which wheat sold for from $1.25 to $1.50 a bushel

A. K. Hall attorney of Upper Sandusky spoke on state issues. County candidates were introduced and David Liggett of Belle Center candidate for the state senate spoke briefly

Music was furnished by the Republican glee club and the talks were amplified over a loud speaking system

MARION MEN HOME FROM BUICK TOUR

Group From Danner Agency Guests of Company on Annual Trip

Four representatives of the Danner Buick Co. of Marion attended the two-day announcement sales convention of the Buick Motor Co. at Flint, Mich., which was featured by a 1,000-mile railroad trip through Ohio and Michigan. It was the second such trip offered to salesmen of the Cleveland area.

Those attending from here were Carl Danner, Bob McMahon, V. G. Minshall and John Austin. They were accompanied by Jack Danner. The railroad cars were the homes of nearly 1,000 salesmen during the convention. The trip began at Cleveland Sunday, crossed northern Ohio and the western part of Michigan before ending at Flint Monday when the convention formally got under way. Sales programs and prices of the new 1937 models were announced.

Mr. Minshall, Carl Danner and Mr. McMahon returned to Marion in new cars while Mr. Austin and Jack Danner completed the train trip to Cleveland, arriving in Marion Wednesday.

Arthur Brisbane

TODAY—Did They Ever Read Same Story in the Bible?

ELIZABETH SMITH, aged 16, unmarried, gave birth to her baby unassisted and is accused of killing the child to get rid of it. Her neighbors in The Bronx say she can't come back to live here, all in accordance with tradition.

You wonder in a vague way what became of the father of that baby and what, if any, his responsibility may be. Also you wonder whether the Bronx neighbors ever read the Bible story about Christ and the woman taken in adultery.

Edward the Salesman

Some in and out of England criticize the King, Edward VIII, in matters that would be strictly his business under normal conditions.

Britons might better be grateful for exactly the sort of king they need, a first-class salesman. King Edward abolishes an old rule that would compel women at the coronation to wear traditional [illegible] white and skirts of standardized red and green. The lady may select her own gown, with a scope for individuality and profit for dressmakers.

Science and Superstition

Superstition and scientific enlightenment travel side by side in newspaper columns. You read that 400 Hindu laborers, at great sacrifice and expense, will travel back from Trinidad to India, to atone for their sin against the Hindu religion committed when they crossed the black ocean.

In a neighboring column you read that television is [illegible] and a new [illegible] career has been opened.

Science gains on superstition. In due time science will still be hard at work and no poor Hindu laborers will believe that some queer god with six or a dozen arms and legs is angry at them for crossing the black ocean. [illegible] home will also be dropped.

New York To Chicago

Suppose that twenty-five years ago, when the possibility of successful flying was discussed, some one had predicted "In twenty-five years a regular commercial airplane loaded with passengers will fly from Chicago to New York, 725 miles, in two hours and 34 minutes and 20 seconds." You might have said "Men will fly, of course, but I advise you not to predict impossibilities."

But that happened this week.

When he was starting, Henry Ford predicted that he would eventually build 10,000 automobiles a year. One of the "great automobile companies" presidents protested, saying "If you talk such nonsense bankers will lose all confidence in our industry." Since then the same Henry Ford has made as many as 2,000,000 automobiles in a year, close to 20,000,000 all together.

You cannot easily exaggerate what can be done by a combination of hard work and imagination.

Restraint

In New York a thief stole the money box from a Harlem motion picture theater, was seized, and the money scattered on the sidewalk. Passersby rushed and made off with $121 in bills and small change. The thief, colored, remarked to his captor "I got competition." Others will wonder what the total number of thieves would be if fear did not restrain.

Cabbages and Oaks

H. G. Wells, 70, honored with the usual dinner, says he is old and it is time to "put away toys because it is bedtime."

It is really time for Wells to get to work and do something new. He has no right to talk of bedtime at an age when the best work should begin.

A cabbage is too old for use at six months, but at that age an oak has scarcely started, and not all men, fortunately, are cabbages.

Opportunity Missed

The Duke of Leinster, young, sufficiently good-looking, considering that he is a duke, tells the bankruptcy judge he owes $[illegible], hasn't a thing, and came to America in 1935 "with the idea of marrying somebody rich."

Some rich American missed the opportunity to become a proud father-in-law. Such a marriage often disappoints the bride, but still the father has his "my son-in-law the duke."

War Continues

In Germany the war continues against religious orders, Catholic orders especially. 600 nuns are deprived of their work. In [illegible] schools. They will not be permitted to resume teaching unless they resign their orders and pass state teaching examinations. Four hundred schools taught and administered by Catholic sisters are to be abolished.

LAWRENCE ON WAY TO FINAL FORECAST

going to go in 1936 and whether various new deal experiments considered unsound from an economic standpoint by business leaders are really on the way out.

Curiously enough, the seven pivotal states I am to visit in the next 10 days — Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware — are the big industrial states. In them the AAA checks have played less of a part than in the west. In them too much of the WPA money and direct relief has been spent for city populations. In them also the President has made definite bids for the labor vote by his policies in the last three years.

Now as to characteristics of the electorate already manifest. The people who feel they are able to differentiate between sound and unsound policies, between the effects of class warfare and nationalism, between the raising of living costs through government influence on prices and continuous subsidies to special groups, are pitted against the people who vote their emotions, namely their gratitude over bank holiday action or relief checks or the swelling of [illegible] drawers through relief expenditure.

One point of view looks back in gratefulness over what has happened and doesn't worry about the future. The other viewpoint looks ahead and is afraid of inflation, devastating taxes and diminishing purchasing power of the wage envelope, the life insurance policies and the savings bank deposits.

Of one thing I am certain. The protest vote [illegible] will be surprisingly large. Whether it will be sufficient to elect Governor Landon by a narrow margin I expect in the next 10 days to discover for myself by [illegible] the seven pivotal states with their 164 electoral votes.

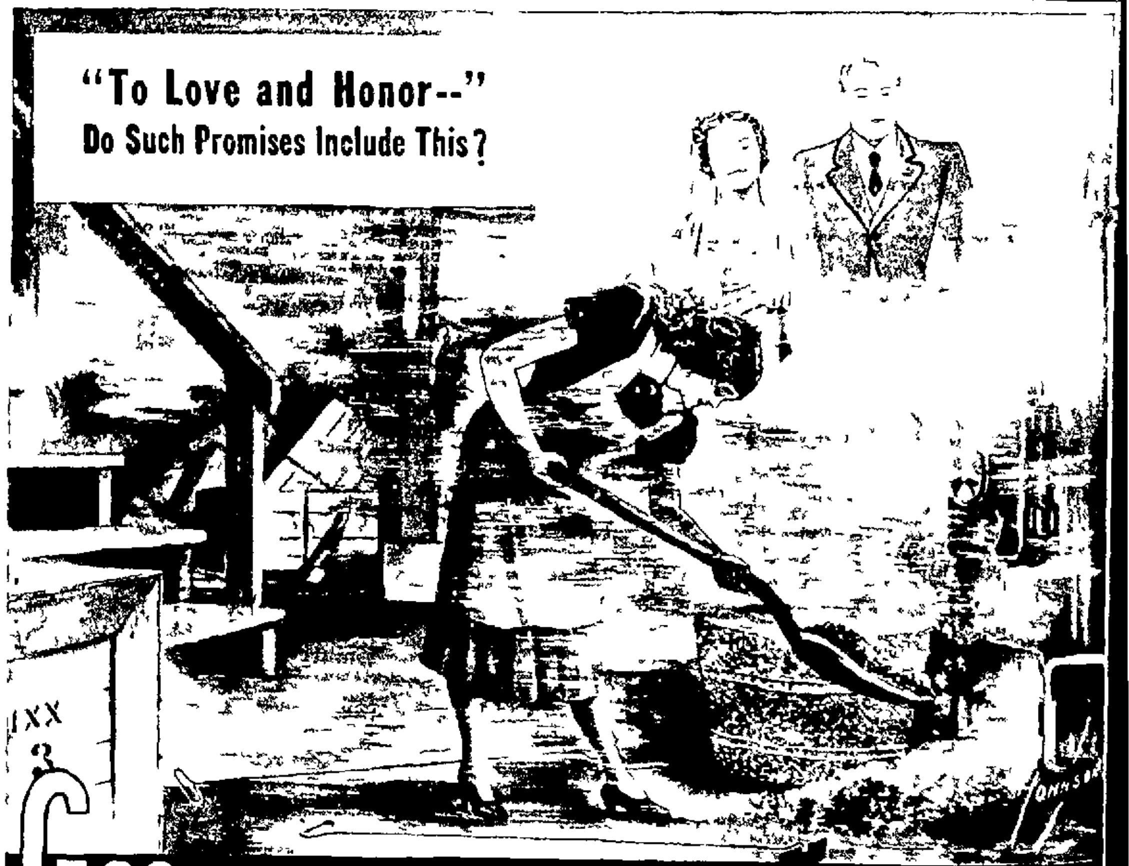
Do Such Promises Include This?



Gas Heat is Clean, Carefree, Automatic

Yes, the honeymoon is over when she discovers that her position as homemaker includes the drudgery of furnace tending. Shoveling fuel and ashes, building fires — these tasks are not a woman's work. And must the housewife be burdened with extra cleaning of furnishings, soiled by sifting furnace dirt? How about her health — isn't it worth something to have even temperatures inside the home?

Clean automatic gas heat frees the housewife of furnace drudgery — enables her to be as carefree and comfortable in winter as on a day in June. A heating engineer from The Gas Company will be glad to tell you the cost of installing a gas-fired unit in your furnace and make an authentic estimate of the cost to heat your home with gas. "They have brought the roads some increases in public good will, but probably they have decreased in net revenue. These conclusions are stated tentatively, for the evidence is not fully adequate, but even so they appear to be valid."

SALES TAX FUNDS BELOW ESTIMATES

September Share of $7,039 Received Here by Auditor from State.

Sub-divisions of Marion county have been alloted a total of $7,038.04 as their share in the state sales tax for September, County Auditor Harry Mounts announced today. These amounts do not include the sales tax moneys distributed to schools by the state.

Harding-Findlay Game Tops Week-End Grid Progran

RESERVE TEAMS OF RIVAL SQUADS ALSO MEET UNDER LIGHTS

Other Elevens in District Working Out for Friday, Saturday Contests

Two floodlight games at Harding stadium and a host of other grid games in this district head line the football menu for Friday and Saturday. North Cent al Ohio league competition will pause as conference teams see action against non league opponents.

Two Findlay High school teams the varsity and reserves will visit Marion Friday night to oppose the Presidents and junior varsity at Harding stadium. The reserve game is set for 6 15 o clock with the varsity contest immediately following about 8 o clock. The games will mark the second pair of conflicts under Harding stadium s newly installed floodlighting system.

Coach Carl Craine and his assistant Bill Williams directed the Harding varsity and reserves in long practice sessions last night at Harding field. The teams took the field shortly after 4 30 o'clock and finished the drill and scrimmage work under the floodlights at 7 30.

Won Two, Tied One

The Presidents have won two of four games lost one and tied the remaining conflict. Playing on a rain-soaked field and handling a slippery ball the varsity team showed good form last week in winning over Galion 19 to 0.

The invading team Findlay will bring a formidable team to the Marion gridiron tomorrow night. Tiffin Columbian dropped before the Findlay squad 14 to 0 last week and the visitors may be expected to display a strong running attack as well as an aerial offense of no mean ability.

The Junior Presidents after winning the initial game at Mansfield 13 to 6 dropped the return game to the same team 7 to 0 and on Harding s muddy gridiron fell before Richwood 19 to 0 last Friday. The reserve will begin the second half of their six game schedule when they take the field against the Findlay Jayvees tomorrow night.

LaRue High school s football squad will be seen in action on its home field Saturday afternoon against the strong West Jefferson High eleven. The Kenton High Wildcats with a total of 181 points this season as compared to no score for four opponents will face their most formidable grid opposition Friday afternoon at Kenton when they entertain the Van Wert Cougars. The teams battled to a 6 6 tie last season and both are rated much stronger this year. In 14 previous meetings each team has won six with two ending in ties.

Mt. Gilead To Meet Bellville

Mt. Gilead High school s Indians will be host to the Bellville High eleven Friday. The Morrow county squad lost its opener with Harding 27 to 12 topped Butler in a Mid State league game 7 to 0 and last week was defeated 7 to 6 by Sunbury.

In addition to Harding High school other N C O teams will be defending their laurels against non league opponents. Mansfield High last year s conference champs will invade Sandusky Saturday to meet a team which has won more than a score of consecutive games. Ashland High scheduled to visit Marion for a floodlight game next week will entertain the strong Gilmour aggregation of Dover High school Saturday.

Bucyrus High which last week won the first of its four games this season by defeating Willard 7 to 0 will furnish the opposition for Shelby on the latter s home field Friday.

A stiff battle is anticipated when Upper Sandusky High conqueror of Astoria St Wendelin ?? to 7 last week invades Crestline Friday for a league Six Nations conflict.

Galion Harding s vanquished N C O opponent of last week will entertain Madison High Saturday while the sixth member of the conference Mt Vernon has no scheduled contest.

LIST OF UNBEATEN TEAMS TO BE CUT

Saturday Contests Certain To Reduce Number in Nation to Around 25

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Oct 15 — With somewhat of a breathing spell on this Saturday s big game intersectional football program the various regions get down to the serious business of weeding out the considerable list of unbeaten contenders in their respective areas.

From the looks of things the field will be reduced to some 25 major survivors by the simple method of stacking one unbeaten outfit against another.

For instance in the east Army s fast charging squad victor in its two starts tangles with Harvard s Crimson also winner in its first two engagements. Yale s unbeaten unscored on Elis run up against Navy s three game winners. Pitt and Duquesne local rivals and unbeaten untied and unscored on in three starts each battle it out. Holy Cross meets Manhattan and Villanova takes on Western Maryland in other clashes between undefeated rivals.

In the south where about seven major outfits still stand unbeaten the standout battle will eliminate either Georgia Tech or Duke unless they fight to a tie.

Michigan State s surprising Spartans take on Missouri and Kansas State battles Marquette in two central regional tilts featuring undefeated teams.

The last two undefeated survivors in the far west Southern California s powerful Trojans and Washington State will cut the list there to one in their meeting.

Indiana still victorious in the mid west faces a threat in Nebraska beaten by Minnesota and Northwestern s undefeated record will find the going tough against Ohio State s Buckeyes downed by Pitt.

NORTHWEST'N, O. S. U. DRILL FOR BIG TEN CONTEST SATURDAY

Clash To Be Critical Test of Wildcats Early Season Playing Ability

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO Oct 15— Coach Lynn Waldorf s labors to pack his Northwestern fever with a "November punch in October" will be given the make or break test Saturday by Ohio State s Buckeyes.

Famed as a coach whose teams reached peak form in November the jovial head man of Wildcat football faced with probably the toughest October assignments possible in Big Ten competition has schemed and hustled to work up a full head of steam without delay. The Wildcats showed surprising early season power in trouncing Iowa and North Dakota State.

The punch department is handled by Don Heap Ollie Adelman Clarence Hinton Bernard Jefferson Don Geyer Steve Toth and Fred Vanzo who have been drilled in the old fashioned football with which Pittsburgh defeated the Scarlet Scourge last week in addition to a lively passing game.

Northwestern s linemen particularly the tackles have been working under the eye of [illegible] Burt Ingwersen seeking to develop speed enough to [illegible] Ohio State s spectacular forward passes before Tippy Dye Joe Williams Bill Booth Mike Kabealo Frank Antenucci and the other Buckeye backs can get started.

The Wildcats concentrated on defense yesterday while Ohio State ripped through its most impressive workout of the week.

Michigan will face Minnesota without Chris Everhardus veteran halfback who place kicked for the only points against Indiana last week. Everhardus withdrew from the Wolverine squad after recurring spells of dizziness the result of a concussion suffered in the season s opener against Michigan State. The Gophers drilled on fundamentals and defense against Michigan formations.

Iowa s defense looked weak against Illinois lateral pass plays. The Illini handled Iowa plays without trouble but showed lack of offensive power. Indiana polished off the specially designed offense and defense to be used against Nebraska. Wisconsin s offense had difficulty doing anything with Notre Dame s style of defense while the Irish scored three touchdowns against the freshmen who used Badger defensive formations.

Coach Noble Kizer gave his Purdue regulars a session on forward passes in preparation for Saturday s battle with Chicago. The Maroons put in another afternoon in trying to develop an attack.

OHIO WESLEYAN GRID SQUAD SHAKEN UP FOR SATURDAY TILT

Western Reserve Baldwin Wallace Game one of Bright Spots on Week s Program

They may not be in the best of shape but Ray Zeh of Western Reserve and Kenny Noble and Ray Haerr of Baldwin Wallace will be ready for their teams traditional clash here Saturday.

That was the word today as Zeh the nation s leading college scorer last year and his teammates drilled savagely to topple the Yellow Jackets who last year topped all other college teams in the country while winning the Ohio conference title but losing to Reserve.

Both elevens are unbeaten and make up 40 per cent of Ohio s undefeated untied contingent.

At Columbus the Buckeyes parred their grips to leave tonight for Chicago and their clash with Northwestern at Evanston Saturday. Pete Gales and Charley Hamrick first string tackles returned to active duty for the first time in a fortnight after recovering from injuries.

Elsewhere on the Ohio football front:

Wooster—A scrimmage against the freshmen was the warmup for Wooster s clash Saturday against Akron.

Cincinnati — Marshall college s tough eleven which upset Dayton and tied Ohio U in its previous Buckeye conference starts this year will find the Bearcats ready for an aerial defense Saturday if yesterday s workout was any indication.

Delaware — Coach George Gauthier shook up the Ohio Wesleyan squad which ran up four touchdowns against the new second team composed mostly of erstwhile first stringers. The five regulars remaining on the first outfit were Halfbacks Manus Clarey and Ed Hagaman Fullback Pat Brooks Tackle Ed Cady and Center Jim McKinnie. Wesleyan defeated three in a row [illegible] this week end.

DRESSEN'S POSITION WITH REDS TO BE SUBJECT OF MEETING

Team Manager To Confer With Giles, New Official of Cincinnati Squad

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI O Oct 15—Warren C Giles recently named vice president and general manager of the Cincinnati Reds awaited today the arrival of Chuck Dressen for conferences expected to determine whether the peppery little field pilot will remain at the helm of next year s team.

"I have nothing against Dressen" said Giles at the same time denying vigorously recent rumors that either Ray Blades manager of the Columbus club of the American association or Billy Southworth former skipper of the Cards might get the post. "But before committing myself I think it best that we have a talk and exchange views on how the manager and general manager should operate."

Giles retiring head of the International league said he did not confer with Dressen at the close of the big league season "because I was not ready to talk to him.

"I have always kept an open mind on all matters pertaining to the Reds" he added "especially the question of who will manage the team next year. I might add that Chuck s in and has a certainly something in his favor."

Dressen is expected here tomorrow from Nashville where he has been conducting a baseball school.

EXPOSITION SHOW, "FOLIES DE NUIT," DRAWS BIG CROWD

by HALLIE HOUCK

A week of smoothing out the rough spots proved its value yesterday when a much-improved, almost entirely different "Folies de Nuit" was presented patrons of the Palace theater. Seen in Mansfield last week-end the Great Lakes Exposition French casino show was good; seen yesterday at the Palace it was better. Today closes the Marion engagement and from here the company will move to Zanesville. After this week the show will be taken on the big-time circuits.

Two things were particularly noticeably in the realigning of the acts; Johnny Lee and the Three Lees have been moved to the next-to-closing spot which they deserve, being to this reviewer's way of looking at the show, the hit act; the lavishly costumed—in some instances mostly uncostumed—"Parade of the Nations" winds up the show instead of being the flashy opening number, and the customers are left with an eye-filling display of pulchritude in various degrees of colorful costuming.

Having the orchestra on the stage is an improvement too. It's a swing unit led by Tommy Ryan and moved from the pit to the stage gives the show a smooth-running unity that was lacking in Mansfield.

The Lees were last night's favorites, and running a close second were Tun Pin Su whose magic and sleight-of-hand act is thoroughly good entertainment, and the Donaldson Foursome who rate the adjectives "sensational and daring" with their adagio act.

Toto LaVerne, billed as the expo's "Sally Rand," did her gyrations and kept her costume of chiffon and sequins "in toto," a point she has been known to forget some times.

The ensemble of 18 girls is seen in four production numbers against spectacular backgrounds, including the "Can-Can" opening number and a waltz number with Ralph Cook, tenor, singing the popular "Live for Today." Quite an interesting number for a supper show crowd, but one which didn't seem to get over with the theater crowds in Mansfield and Marion, was the "Danse Moderne" of the Bernards & Duvals, an interpretitive pantomime set against the beat of a drum.

Large crowds greeted the show yesterday. In Mansfield the crowds were turned away and in Portsmouth Monday and Tuesday an extra performance had to be added to accommodate the throngs.

The picture, "Sworn Enemy," is above-average entertainment, offering as it does Robert Young, Florence Rice, Joseph Calleia, Lewis Stone and Nat Pendleton in a fast-moving melodrama of racketeers.

A LA BOONE

Hunters Down Squirrels with Muzzle Loaders.

KENTON, O., Oct. 15—Sam McCormick and Clarence Corwin were stricken this week by the hunting fever and lacked modern equipment.

The result—McCormick took two old muzzle-loading rifles, each 150 years of age or more, down from their racks in his den and the two state highway employes emulated Daniel Boone. They each shot themselves a squirrel, although it took them 15 minutes to reload their arms with powder and ball.

FIGHT OVER M'NAIR RUNS MERRILY ON

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15—William N. McNair worked quietly in his little law office today while opponents termed a note withdrawing his resignation as mayor "a scrap of paper."

McNair, who sent the note—typed on a torn letter head—to council as unexpectedly as he resigned a week ago, didn't take part in debate on: "Who is mayor?"

He said he was too busy with his law practice. "Business is picking up," he added. "I'm working on some new estate cases that came in yesterday."

His successor, acting Mayor Cornelius D. Scully, was emphatic "That's just a scrap of paper," he said of the note.

Daily Pattern for Home Use

BY ANNE ADAMS

WHEN YOU MAKE THESE APRONS KEEP THEM IN MIND FOR GIFTS

Anne Adams, in Pattern 4105 in- for the modern homemaker, make your own crisp aprons, for holiday hostessing now so at hand, you'll need more than usual. You'll find this pair will make the and most inexpensive too, for gay cotton remnants on every fabric counter, and smart styles may be made in time than it takes to tell. like dimity, organdy, swiss, for style A, dressy as with its contrasting ruffle. B suggests sturdy gingham, or cotton broadcloth, spiced big bright buttons.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number.

Be Sure To State Size

Send for our new Anne Adams Pattern Book, presenting the latest in fall fashions, the latest fabrics and gift suggestions. You'll find glamorous gowns for after-dusk, alluring daytime frocks, cheery housedresses and clothes. Styles, too, for "would be slender" woman, and the girl-away-at-school. Send for it today! Book fifteen cents. Pattern fifteen cents. Twenty-five cents for both when ordered together.

SELECT STOCKS MOVE FORWARD

Domestic News Bullish But Word from Abroad Causes Wall Street To Frown.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Oct 15—Selected stocks pushed up quietly in today's market, a number to new recovery peaks as optimistic business prospects attracted renewed interest of speculative and investment quarters.

Many of the recent leaders however failed to make the grade although extreme selling pressure was lacking in most instances. The trading pace was about equal to that of the preceding session.

European developments were hardly to the liking of the financial sector, but opinions varied as to their influence of share trends.

Corporation bonds generally pointed slightly higher. Commodities moved indefinitely. Foreign currencies displayed small variations.

Rails, coppers, alcohols and amusements were among the day's best share performers.

On the favorable side of the market picture was the third quarter report of American Telephone which showed a net of $2.31 a share, the first time the corporation's dividend has been earned since the same period in 1931. In the 1935 months earnings amounted to $1.75 a share.

The revival in a few alcohol stocks was attributed largely to a seasonal upturn in business for these concerns with consequent hopes of more generous disbursements to shareholders.

Amusement issues achieved some popularity as box office receipts of the principal moving picture theaters continued to climb and leaders in the production end urged cooperation in slicing costs of film making.

Sustaining influence for the carrier shares was the address of President Pelley of the Association of American Railroads in which he said the futures of the transportation industry was the brightest in years.

Preferred stocks with dividend arrears were again in the limelight as reorganization plans were studied by a number of companies.

The Bank of France took another cut at its discount rate this time from 2½ to 2 per cent as its gold holdings for the week ended Oct 9 increased substantially. At the beginning of foreign exchange transactions the franc was unchanged at 4.68 cents and sterling was up ¼ of a cent at $4.89½.

Counties with population in excess of 100,000 will be supervised through state headquarters and the seven districts formed today will later be regrouped into 10 permanent districts. TWO YOUTHS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Treated at Hospital After Mishap Near Delaware

Two youths were treated at the City hospital early today for injuries they said they received in a sideswipe collision with a truck. The youths who gave their names as Dewey Allen, 20, and Albert Ashton, 18, both of McConnelsville, suffered minor cuts and Ashton had a severe head gash.

The pair told highway patrolmen that their car had been sideswiped on route 30, five miles east of Delaware about 2 a. m. They were en route to Detroit and did not realize the extent of their injuries until they arrived in Marion, they said. They reported that the truck did not stop. The car which they were driving was only slightly damaged according to the patrolman.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts lifeless. To end Piles an internal medicine should be used to stimulate the circulation, and restore the affected parts.

Dr J S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for hundreds of patients with a marvelous record of success and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a right money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when all druggists say "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money back."

CARE OF SHEEP DEMONSTRATED

Ohio State University in County; Urges Elimination of Parasites.

Forty Marion county farmers and high school youths interested in agriculture Tuesday attended demonstrations on the control of sheep parasites given by L. K. Bear, extension animal husbandman from Ohio State university, in Marion county. He was at the L. E. Anderson farm near Meeker in the morning and at the O. C. McCurdy farm north of Marion in the afternoon.

Mr Bear urged farmers to keep sheep from getting in a run down condition by treating them regularly for the control of stomach worms and other internal parasites. He advised treatments once each month from May 1 to Nov 1 unless the sheep have a large range or frequent changes of pasture are made.

He outlined 10 rules for treating sheep as follows: 1. It is preferable but not absolutely necessary to keep sheep off feed and water 12 to 18 hours before dosing. 2—Use the combination drench several times each season. Make it by dissolving one ounce of dark blue copper sulfate (blue vitriol) and one ounce of 40 per cent nicotine sulfate in three quarts of soft water. 3. Mix solution thoroughly. Keep well stirred while using. Do not use a metal container. 4. Keep the sheep in a standing position. Do not raise the head too high. 5—Use a syringe or a long necked bottle for drenching. 6. Measure dose accurately and give as follows: Lambs of 40 to 60 pounds one ounce, lambs of 60 to 80 pounds, 1½ ounces, sheep 80 to 100 pounds 2 to 2½ ounces, sheep 100-125 pounds, three ounces, sheep over 125 pounds four ounces. 7—Since most sheep also have hook worms and other round worms they should be treated in the spring and fall with tetrachlorethylene (capsules). 8—Use the No 100 capsules 5 c. c. for sheep, the No. 180 or 2.5 c. c. capsule for lambs under 60 pounds. 9—Confine sheep to a narrow chute or small pen. Do not excite them. 10—Change to fresh pasture after treating.

In urging sheep raisers to take their flocks into the winter free from parasites Mr Bear said the forepart of the summer was dry enough to avoid serious trouble but there has been sufficient damp weather to make another capsule treatment and possibly another drench essential before cold weather comes.
